“I am delighted to welcome you to a world in which women and our many powers take center stage though the arc of history.” – From the Forward by K. J. Dell’Antonia, New York Times best-selling author of Playing the Witch Card, and The Chicken Sisters.

Whether cooking for solace, scrounging for food, concocting medicine, or brewing poisons, the feisty women in the stories of Feisty Deeds II: Historical Tales of Batches and Brews, will keep you thirsting for more. Twenty-five tales will transport you far afield in time and place: Third Century Ireland, Medieval Europe, and Twentieth-Century Australia. Read your way from a hippie commune to a World War II internment camp in the Philippines; from a Renaissance palace to a Polish village wracked by war; and to the hills of Appalachia and a sleepy Ontario town. Mixtures to soothe, heal, and thrill are prepared in these pages, where lovers take revenge, mothers protect their children, and feisty women make choices in a challenging world.

“These globe-spanning tales of dauntless women are pitch-perfect, timely, and meticulously crafted.” —
